

Angels in the Outfield

One child at a time...

Andrea Bullock,

Auction Volunteer Coordinator

andrea@theangelsintheoutfield.org

Andrea is an Oregon City native now living in Beavercreek with her partner, Kirk, and his two amazing boys, enjoying life on their hobby farm. During the week, you will find her overseeing her family's 3rd generation tow business in Oregon City. Andrea works alongside both her parents who have instilled in her a work ethic and passion for community involvement throughout her childhood and younger adult years.

Andrea has always had a zest for volunteering and planning events ranging from small intimate gatherings to city wide events. She spent several years volunteering as the Chair for the Chief Advisory Committee on behalf of the Oregon City Police Department and Clackamas Fire District #1. During that time, she also assisted in the planning and the coordinating of Oregon City's citywide National Night Out event hosted by the police department.

After years of attending The Angels In The Outfield auction and assisting as a volunteer coordinator, when approached with the opportunity to join the board, Andrea knew she was ready to apply her love of community and assist in any way possible to help make a difference for children.

Andrea joined the Angels board in 2021.
